From the Pastor

Pastor Kai Nilsen

At a recent staff meeting, I asked them to share what they will be doing to renew their bodies, minds, and spirits this summer. As you might expect, many talked about a time of vacation, of getting away either to a specific location or just away from the daily rhythms of work. All good. But, what I think we all know is that renewal doesn't come once or twice a year. In fact, if that's the hope, the unfortunate truth is that it simply doesn't last.

Renewal, like any spiritual desire, needs to be practiced consistently, intentionally, and purposefully. And, Lord knows we need some renewal in our time.

Writer Caroline Burke reflected on the rising rates of depression in our country. According to a recent Gallup poll, 29% of American adults reported having experienced clinical depression in their lifetime, up from 19% in 2015, with women and young adults being particularly susceptible. She surmised that COVID may not have been the driver but it certainly exacerbated the contributing circumstances of social isolation, loneliness, and economic uncertainty.

In a recent article, US Surgeon General, Vivek Murthy, picked up this theme, raising the caution flag around the growing sense of loneliness in our country comparing its effects on our bodies to smoking 15 cigarettes a day. Murthy, "I'm asking people to recognize that our disconnection from one another is one of the most foundational issues we are dealing with in our society today."

Take a vacation if you are able. No question. But, what else can you build into your ongoing life.

We recently ended our sermon series on Awe, based thematically on a book by Dacher Keltner. In his research, Keltner discovered the life-giving and renewing properties of our experiences of awe and invites us to consider how we can engage them daily. Here are a few to consider:

- Daily connection to the natural world, specifically allowing yourselves to wonder about its beauty and complexity.
- Daily connection with people you care about. Our stories matter to one another.
- Consistent acts of kindness offered to others.
- Communal Gatherings (we call them worship) where we encounter the vast mystery of a God who created us in love, for love.
- Add your own to the list.

Whatever you decide to do, do it intentionally, consistently, and purposefully. The Spirit of God is always available and accessible in renewing ways.

As we gather for worship this summer, our preaching theme will be Reimagining the Way. We will use pivotal stories from the book of Acts as guides to ask our own questions about how God is asking us to re-think who we are as a faith community today. Remember, this very God who transforms communities, renews individual lives!

Look forward to seeing you in worship this summer!

Peace, Kai

Highlights was my favorite children's magazine. It was often found in the waiting rooms of doctor's offices. As a child, I remember going straight to the "connect the dots" puzzle, and with excitement, I would connect the numbered dots to create a picture. This example is a reminder that we often can't see the big picture when we are in the middle of things. But if we trust God to keep everything moving forward, we can eventually look back and see how all our experiences have come together to create something beautiful and meaningful.

Similarly, your Council is hard at work connecting dots to help strengthen our church. For example, one of the Council's five priorities is the creation of a 3-year plan. This plan consists of three strategic pillars:

- 1) Serving and Transforming our Community
- 2) Deepening our Faith
- 3) Responsible Stewardship

The third pillar, Responsible Stewardship, is linked back to three of your Council priorities which are a) conduct an internal audit (underway), b) budgets with positive net contributions and c) rethink giving. All are intended to strengthen our financial position so that we have the resources to grow.

Recently, the Stewardship Committee and the Council had a joint workshop designed to identify ways to "rethink our giving." The focus was on our operating budget. The church's operating budget can be overlooked, but it is the heart of our church. It has been broadly flat over the past several years. A budget that does not increase, can potentially inhibit the church's ability to grow ministries and touch the lives of more people in different ways. The budget funds the programming and staffing of our key ministries which include a) children, youth and family,

b) worship and music and c) adult ministries. It also supports the ongoing operational costs of our church and the vital role the administrative staff plays to keep everything running smoothly.

Often it is easy to get into the cycle of just do as we did in the past. Breaking the cycle of the traditional giving strategies and introducing new innovative approaches is not only exciting but will prove to be fruitful. The joint workshop resulted in a long list of creative strategies to strengthen our giving culture, identify new ways to give, and ideas on how to capture and share the stories of how our church has touched so many lives over the years. The Stewardship Committee will prioritize these giving strategies and implement those that look to be most promising.

When we grow our operating budget, that growth will connect back to the other two pillars in the 3-year plan. It will provide resources to help us touch the lives of more people and deepen their and our faith and it will help us serve and transform our faith community. We can trust that God has a plan for our lives. Even when we don't understand what is happening, we can trust that God is working in our lives for our good and we can also trust that God will connect the "dots" in our lives.

2023 Council Priorities

1. Create a 3-Year Plan
  2. Increase Transparent Communications
  3. Conduct an Internal Financial Audit
  4. Create Budgets with Positive Net Contributions
  5. Rethink Giving

CARE OF CREATION CORNER

Weddings, graduation celebrations, holidays, get togethers—all are important, and all can produce lots of waste. The average American wedding typically dumps 400–600 pounds of trash into landfills. Choose alternatives to trashing: Collect and compost food scraps and compostable plates and utensils. Avoid paper and plastic, substituting glass or ceramic dishes, serving platters, and silverware, which can be washed and reused. Home or locally grown seasonal bouquets mean fewer transport emissions and less likelihood of poor treatment of the farm workers—a justice issue. Once the event is over, deliver the flowers to a hospital, nursing home, or to some people you love or who need a lift. Compost any flowers that have withered.

All Hands on Hope 2023 MobilePack™ Feeds 1,595 Kids for One Year!

We have officially started the summer season here in Minnesota. Families are counting down the days until the last musical concerts, track and field days, and graduations mark the start of a new season. As we prepare to enjoy Minnesota's blissful, but brief summer, we wanted to reflect on the success of the 16th All Hands on Hope MobilePack™ held April 26-30, 2023, on site at Incarnation.

The event was a great success, in terms of packing meals as well as bringing the community together to support our ministry partner, Feed My Starving Children (FMSC). During 14 shifts over five days, more than 1,900 volunteers packed 582,336 meals. That number translates into feeding 1,595 of God's beloved children for one year. To date, we have raised over $180,000 to meet our financial goal.

There were many highlights over the five days of packing. The Incarnation FMSC Action Group, FMSC staff and the ILC Prayer Team kicked off the event with a prayer in the parking lot over "Fancy Nancy," the semi-trailer that housed the ingredients and pallets of packed meals. While our volunteer numbers did not reach pre-pandemic levels, the volunteers who showed up were dedicated and efficient, which in turn yielded a large number of meals packed. We were delighted to see not only members of the Incarnation community who have been faithfully volunteering since 2007, but many members of the greater community including large groups from Roseville Lutheran Church, the Mounds View Girls La Crosse Team (players, coaches and parents), Calvary-Spring Lake Parish from the Rush Lake area, MN Tzu-Shao group, several local Rotary Clubs, Kiwanis Clubs, basketball teams, small groups, National Honor Society students, scouts, neighborhood groups and many more. We had several companies who not only financially sponsored the event, but also provided volunteers including Thrivent Financial, Kevari, Trafera, Reell, Tradition Bank, Legacy Wealth, and Eagle Brook Church. More than ever, this was a larger community effort and we are grateful for the support of so many.

Many volunteers assisted behind the scenes, serving as Welcome Ambassadors, greeting volunteers and helping them register and get ready to pack, box makers, labelers, and the all-important set-up and tear-down crews. We had a team of volunteers who prepared and handed out samples of the MannaPack™ meals to all volunteers before and after some shifts. All of these volunteers were treated to nutritious meals provided by different volunteer groups throughout the weekend.

FMSC Action Group member Claudia Wiebold says, "It was so exciting to feel the energy and the enthusiasm throughout all of the spaces used for the All Hands on Hope MobilePack™. Our community (Incarnation members and our neighbors) was excited to be packing!"

In addition to feeding 1,595 children for a year, the MobilePack is an excellent way to build community and join together in service with neighbors. "I connected with a man that often walks along the bike path on Hodgson Road," says Wiebold. "I often pass him, either in my car or on my bike. When I saw him in the labeling room, I took the opportunity to greet him—and met his wife in the process. Now I have names to go along with these faces."

As the planners of the event, Incarnation's FMSC Action Group would like to thank everyone who supported this experience, whether as a volunteer, a financial supporter or someone who prayed for its success. This work couldn't be done without your partnership. Look for more information regarding our 2024 MobilePack™ in Lifetimes or by following our social media accounts:

A Few Notes from Worship & Music

Greetings Everyone and Happy Spring/Summer!

I am excited to update you on some wonderful enhancements to our Sunday morning worship experiences. During the months of June and July, both morning services will be held in the Sanctuary. During these months we will be implementing a new software system that significantly updates the presentation of visuals and graphics during worship. Having both services in the Sanctuary will allow the tech and worship planning teams the opportunity to learn the system in one space with adequate time between services to make sure things run smoothly.

In addition to the new software, a substantial portion of this project involves installing hardware and new pieces of equipment. Installation has begun in the Sanctuary and will start in Incarnation Hall in June and July.

We gratefully thank you for your patience as we grow into this new and exciting improvement to the visual aspect of our worship experience!

We look forward to seeing you in worship!

Sean Turner

Minister of Music and Worship

Troop 416 Scouts Help with FMSC

Thirty Scouts, leaders, and family members from Troop 9416 (sponsored by Incarnation Lutheran Church) packed food for hungry children as they participated in the Feed My Starving Children Mobile Pack™ at Incarnation Lutheran Church on April 27, 2023. During the shift 240 boxes or 43,000 meals were packed by all who gathered to help. During this shift alone, the food that was packed will feed 120 children for a year! The following Scouts participated: Gannon, Pierson, Wade, Noah, Eli, Nick, Hayden, Hunter, Arlo, Leo and Jordan. The Scouts agreed that this type of service was not only a great way to help others, but it was also quite fun!

Try something new in a short timeframe! Dive into the Book of Acts (Incarnation’s summer sermon theme) or learn about The Saint John’s Bible (with Incarnation’s Heritage Edition) in a summer small group. Explore Awe (Incarnation’s spring sermon theme) while reading An Altar in the World or in a group watching for awe in nature, music, visual arts, stories and more. Small Group: An Altar in the World

Watch for sacred moments in the small things we do and see every day. Simple practices such as walking, shopping for groceries, working around the house, and prayer can become meaningful ways to experience awe, wonder and a sense of God’s presence. This small group will read and talk about selections from An Altar in the World by Barbara Brown Taylor.

Whether you are new to this book or have already read it, this is an opportunity to discover new insights in conversations with others. The book encourages us to find altars in the world as we “live with purpose, pay attention, slow down and revere the world we live in.” The group will read one of the chapters before each gathering. Leaders: Connie Aram and Jane Trapp.

spring sermon series on “awe,” this group is a chance to find practices that open us to experiencing awe. The group will draw on insights from a collection of articles, podcasts, videos, sermons and the book Awe by Dacher Keltner. Led by Grant Rykken and Denise Floe.

Dates: 6/27, 7/11, 7/25, and 8/8

Small Group: Civic Life and Faith

The Evangelical Lutheran Church in America (ELCA) in 2019 authorized developing a social statement on government, civic engagement and the relationship of church and state that will be presented to an upcoming ELCA general assembly. The fundamental ELCA commitment: as we talk together about tough social issues, we form a community of moral deliberation. You have an opportunity to engage in study and discussion of civic life and faith based on a study by the ELCA in small group sessions facilitated by Carol Lacey. Each gathering will include prayer, scripture, discussion, and a chance to get to know one another. The group will not cover specific issues, but rather how to engage in conversations around civic life. Group members will prepare by reviewing materials and videos and, following each session, will be able to send survey responses to the ELCA. Group members will also be able to be part of Kairos forums on this topic (Sept. 24, Oct. 1 and Oct. 2). Sign up for the summer OR fall group (there are two separate groups) or take part in a self-study.

Lost in the Land of Milk & Honey: An Immigrant Saga By RW Holmen

This is the title of another novel by RW Holmen, a Minnesota author with deep Scandinavian roots. (Our library has other of his books, too.) While this novel is not autobiographical, he does say that family stories and experiences do color the story.

A prologue and an epilogue bookend this lengthy story of a Minnesota family from 1891 to the present century.

Red cardinals permeate the story, too—they appear and reappear often, and you will learn to watch for them. Pastors, judges, and murderers alike fill the pages as we follow Jonas Jonsson and his offspring in Minnesota. The story moved from Swede Hollow to “a swanky home for the elderly in an affluent Twin Cities suburb.” Many names and places will be familiar to those of us who live in Minnesota.

This story could be the story of many families—perhaps yours. Maybe you are the storyteller who remains and needs to share your story with relatives. Could be.
